I am in favor of a primary election, conducted under the simplest form that can be devised. I would suggest that the polls be opened say from 12 M. to 8 P. M.; that each voter vote directly for the aspirant [for Lee, or Daniel, or Taliaferro, or Mahone, as the case may be]; that the friends of the aspirant who shall receive the highest number of votes in a ward appoint the delegates

If practicable, I would also have it arranged that the delegates, after voting for their man," and when forced to fall back upon another, should be instructed to regard the aggregate votes the aspirants receive in the city as an index, as it will be, of the popular preference in that respect. This latter point might be elaborated here, but I know that the whole subject will be thoroughly discussed, and doubtless some plan better than I could propose will be devised and suggested, so as to have the people represented as far as possible, not only in their first, but in their second and third choice. Dr. Burg on "Our Heiress."

Editors of the Dispatch: Through the columns of your valuable and popular paper I beg leave to call attention to a strange piece of cruelty about to be perpetrated on the stage of the Richmond Theatre in a burlesque called "Our Heiress." It is no less a violation of humanity than arresting the monkey of the organ-grinder and tying the animal by the tail to the street-lamp, while the cruel policeman goes in search of another offender-the

I am not one of those who would willingly believe that the South is entirely given over to K. K. K., but I am persuaded that it is the custom with some of the best citizens tocarry home from market a chicken by the leg-a most cruel practice, forbidden by the laws of the nineteenth century.

The stage reflects the sentiments and morals of a people, and you should not permit anything on the boards calculated to harden the feelings of your people. humanely and tried by a jury of his peers, which, according to the learned Dr. Darwin, would not be hard to find, even in Richmond. And a cat, Mr. Editor, should b mildly treated also by the officer making the arrest-as, for instance, he should say puss puss, puss, or kitty, kitty, instead of taking the animal by the tail and slinging him-or her-about. One of the personalities or local hits should be corrected. The chorus sing:

"If you catch a black cat, Turn him to Cologue," &c. This is all wrong. A joke is a joke, but of the age. Yours.

A Card from Mr. Kemper. Editors of the Dispatch: Sirs,-I certainly do not desire such notoriety as comes cars of the Chesapeake and Obio Raifroad through a police report, nor can I very well afford it; but inasmuch as the item concern-James Temple (colored) was fined $2 and ing the unhappy quarrel in which I became costs for assaulting and abusing Lavinia involved on Saturday last has been borne far and wide on the swift wings of the Dispatch, Alexander Davis (colored), charged with will you not do me justice by publishing the sequel-namely, that on appearing before session one lot of clothing supposed to be Justice White this morning I was immediately and honorably discharged upon the Miles Cary (colored), assaulting and beat- testimony of my late antagonist, corroborated by all the other witnesses? It is hard Thomas and John, O'Conner, assaulting to undergo arrest and imprisonment for the fault of another (a fault which that other frankly admitted), but harder still to suffer such a wrong in silence.

Respectfully yours, W. H. KEMPER. MONDAY, June 4, 1877. Editors Dispatch: Few cities are blessed charm the eye and please the fancy of the visitor; and on the occasion of Professor Kessnich's first open air concert last Saturday evening our Capitol Square presented a scene rarely enjoyed by any sister city. The merry children romping and frolicking in ecstatic delight; the care-worn merchant raising their heels from beneath the gaudy robes in which careful mothers had snugly tucked them; blushing maidens with gallant all letters for advice must be addressed. sons in merry converse, made a living panorama of pleasure and delight; while the charming music that reverberated among the trees drove away the dull thought of the day and truly prepared us for the comtenary church will hold this evening in the ling Sabbath. But such occasions are numbered unless a great nuisance is disposed of, and I hope to offer the remedy.

The most thoughtless and unobserving must have noticed the embarrassment on the part of the ladies and children, and prices, and satisfaction guaranteed.

They are compounded of vegetable ingredients, and contain nothing which can be tain opium, which is a somewhat dangerous drug in all cases, and if taken freely by consumptive patient it must do great injury; for its tendency is to confine the morbid matter in the system, which, of course must make a cure impossible.
